THE COLLEGE YEAR

FOREWORD

As we come to the close of another year, the eighty-sixth, in the history of Greensboro College, we attempt to chronicle, in picture and story, the events of the past year. We, of the class of 1924, have endeavored to make this book a true ECHO of our fourth and last year in our beloved Alma Mater. To our older sisters, who have gone before us, may it recall fond memories of their school days. To our younger sisters yet to come may it provide inspiration and ideals. To the casual reader, it is but a book to be read in leisure moments. To us it is a living record of familiar scenes and faces, a few choice reflections from our pages of Life.

DEDICATION

To one who has guided us through the joys and trials of our College Life, whose love and sympathy are as beacon lights, whose high ideals for us have kept us true to ourselves and to our College, whose dreams for us have given us a new vision of the future—

To

MISS METTIE E. RICKETTS

We, the Class of 1924, in grateful love and deep appreciation, dedicate this, our volume of THE ECHO. I wish to express to you, the Class of 1924, my sincere expression of appreciation of the very gracious honor you have done me in dedicating your book to me. During the years of my association with you my love and prayers have followed you. In discouragement I have never lost faith in you. When I have presented our common problems to you, you have always given me a ready response, while your youthful enthusiasm and idealism have given me courage to press on. In the years to come, when memory will gather in her "December Roses," there will be a very fair sheath for me in the memory of "Happy Anne" and her classmates.

In love and gratitude, I am, your friend,

METTIE E. RICKETTS.

Historical Sketch

G

REENSBORO COLLEGE, located at Greensboro, N. C., has a history reaching far back into the period of ante-bellum life. It was chartered in 1838 as Greensboro Female College and is the second oldest chartered institution for women in the South. The corner-stone of the first building was not laid until 1843, and it was not until 1846 that the school opened its doors for the students. The first president was the Rev, Solomon Lea, who was rated as a capable and well-equipped teacher, and he was assisted by an able faculty. At once the college drew to its halls many students from the far Southern states,

Dr. Lea was succeeded in the presidency by Dr. A. M. Shipp, a man whose record as an educator is written high in the years of service. He administered the affairs of the college for three years, after which he resigned to accept a professorship in the University of North Carolina. His successor was Dr. Charles F. Deems, afterwards widely known as the pastor of the Church of Strangers, in New York City. Under the presidency of Dr. Deems the college enjoyed an era of great prosperity. The fourth president of the college, successor of Dr. Deems, was Dr. T. M. Jones, whose memory hundreds of noble women rise up to call blessed. During the presidency of Dr. Jones the main building of the college was destroyed by fire. This calamity, joined by misfortunes brought by war, necessitated the closing of the school for ten years. The corner-stone of a new building was laid in 1871, and in August, 1873, the school opened its doors for the reception of students.

Dr. Jones continued at the head of the institution until his death in 1890, greatly lamented by the church and the constituency he had served so well. Dr. B. F. Dixon was his succesor. His presidency extended over a period of three years, when he was succeeded by Dr. Frank L. Ried, who was at the time of his election editor of The Raleigh Christian Advocate. He had fairly begun what promised to be a great and successful experience in the charge of his duties when he was suddenly called from his earthly activities by the messenger of death. Dr. Dred Peacock, who had been a useful member of the faculty, was elected to the presidency on the death of Dr. Ried. On account of ill health Dr. Peacock resigned his post in 1902, when Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson was selected as his successor. She had been for a number of years connected with the school as a member of its faculty, and the success which attended her administration was no surprise.

Between 1902 and 1904 untoward conditions came upon the college. First, its Board of Trustees was greatly discouraged on account of stringent financial conditions and decided to put the property in process of liquidation. Later the main building was destroyed by fire. The end of the institution now seemed to have come; but, through the almost superhuman efforts of the alumnae and the co-operation of the annual conferences, a new and splendid building was erected in 1904, and the school opened with the largest registration of students known in its history. Since then its prosperity has continued. During the year 1906-1907 the attendance reached the high-water mark, and the same conditions have continued down to the year 1924. A new dormitory was erected in 1912, known as Fitzgerald Hall. The building was named in honor of Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, of Linwood, who gave $10,000 towards its erection. This building was filled to its capacity as soon as it was opened to students. In the year 1913 Mrs. Robertson having resigned, Rev. S. B. Turrentine, D.D., a member of the Western North Carolina Conference, was elected president. Since his election a new dormitory has been erected and was opened in the fall of 1917. This building is named Hudson Hall in memory of Mrs. Mary Lee Hudson, of Shelby, N. C., whose donations to the college amount to more than $13,000. A beautiful building for the Conservatory of Music has lately been erected as the gift of Mr. J. A. Odell of Greensboro.

The Greensboro College Creed

W

E believe in being rather than seeming; in the devotion to high ideals; in daring to do our duty as we understand it.

We believe in having an attentive eye, a listening ear, a busy brain, in keeping the mind clear and bright, filling it with wholesome thoughts of life; in losing ourselves in useful industry.

We believe in being worthy at all times; in having grim energy and resolute courage for the conquest of fear; in gaining confidence in our own ability.

We believe in service, in doing kind deeds, thinking good thoughts, in being strong, gentle, pure and good, steady, loval and enduring.

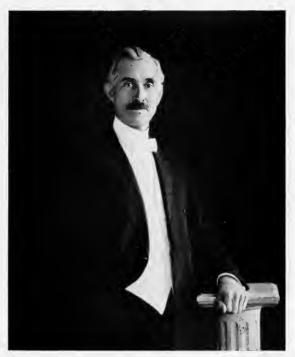

We believe in reverence for the truth; humility; in great aspirations and high ambitions; in toiling ever upward.

We believe in cultivating the bright virtue of patriotism and the holy passion for friendship.

We believe in studying hard, thinking quietly, talking gently, acting frankly; in listening to the winds, the trees, the stars and the birds, to babes and sages with open hearts; we believe in being glad, in loving all, in hating none, in doing all bravely, bearing all cheerfully, awaiting occasions, hurrying never.

We believe in striving to gain sound knowledge, not content simply to know, but determined to use knowledge for the highest purpose.

We believe in man and woman, in God's unending love, and in the future,

College Songs

COLLEGE SONG

(Words and music by Mrs. A. K. Moore, nee Miss Blanche Dawson, Class of '99')

To our dear old Alma Mater we will sing a song of praise:

All our hearts filled with loyalty and love. For to her belongs all praise and bonon that our tongues can frame;

her we raise our hearts in praise above Through the shade and sunshine she has stood our college home; And she stands for countless ages yet to be

Ah, our hearts beat high with pride and rapture for the home we love As we sing a song for dear old G, C

CHORUS

Dear G. C., thy name is thrilling in the air. Dear G. C., our own dear college home so tall Bright dreams of young life's golden spring Around thy walls forever cling.

As the years advance and life puts on an aspect miore severe, With faith in G. C. old and ever new, Whose precepts and whose dignity we look to Success and fame shall crown our efforts true. The high ideals and truths she has taught us to Illumination to our way shall be. In memory dear we'll hold her through the long, long years to come, Our faithful Alma Maler, G. C.

A TOAST TO OLD "G. C." (Tune, "Stein Song")

(Words by L. B. Hurley) Come now, sisters, all together To our college tair let's sing Caring naught for wind or weather, When for her our voices ring; For it's always fair weather When G C girls get together, Our hearts with love o'erflowing, And a good song ringing clear,

CHORUS

Then we'll toast her forever And naught can our friendship sever, As we ring out strong and hearty In our pledge to dear old G. C.

Now we are all young and twenty, And the springtime's in the air, And we know the world is glorlous, And we've life and love to spare, For it's always fair weather. When G. C. guls get together, Our hearts with love o erflowing. And a good song ringing clear,

When from us the spring has parted. lafe no longer in the May, Once again we'll feel light-hearted. As we pledge to dear G. C.

For it's always fair weather. When G C guls get together. Our hearts with love o'culowing. And a good song ringing clear.

Come, then, now white still itis May time And our hearts hold not a fear. Let our song rise night and daytime And ring full with great good cheer For it's always fair weather. When G. C. girls got too ther. Our hearts with love o cribowing.

And a good song tinging clear,

ALMA MATER

(Words by L. B. Hurley) (Music by B. S. Bates)

Thou who gave us dreams unnumbered, Thou who gave us life unknown, Thou who waked us as we slumbered, Took us wholly as thine own, Thou who gave us cherished memories, Friendship's fire to bless each flay. Claimed us as thine own dear children,

To thee our debt thus we would pay,

Fair st, fairest Alma Mater, Long our songs shall rise to thee. As we pledge our deep devotion, Thy name shall ting from sea to sea

Thou whose fame shall live forever, Noblest champion of the truth, Naught from thee our hearts can sever-Guide and guardian of our youth, Still the harmony is ringing Over valley, hill and plain, Loyal children still are singing, Singing torth the glad refrain,

To Alma Mater

(Tune "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes") (Words by L. B. Hurley)

Our Alma Mater, high thy praise Was sung by girls of yore. Thine own dear name of stainless fame Shall live forevermore Then, sisters, may each heart and voice To her be lifted high,

While still we live to her we'll give A love that shall not die, tur Alma Mater, strong in each voice. The song rings true and sweet; Thy pride and honor fills loving hearts And thrills in every heat Thy days of your return no more, Though still we feel them near, And firm we stand a loyal band Thy memory to revere.

OUR ALMA MATER

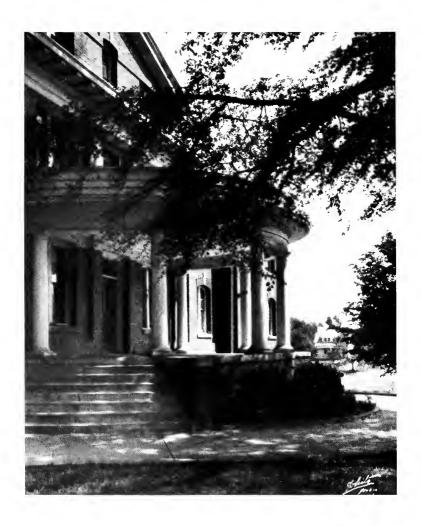

(Words by Reube Alley) (Music by Thelma Harrell) Greenshorn College for Women, Alma Mater

Many from past ages gaze with vision clear; Countless generations, far as eye can see, All will our in song to thee.

Within thine my-covered walls, G. C., whom we love; Within thy memory-crowded halls, Our ideals soar above. And through all the days may we. G. C., ever turn to the and throughout all elernity. Ever hear praises of thee U dear G. C.

Loyalty to college, loyalty to land, Frithfulness to duty, for all this we stand. To our Alma Mater we will strive to be True and faithful daughters as should do from Oxorran.

"Full of long-sounding corridors it was,

I hat over wanted, grateful aloom,

Through which the twelving day, my woul did pass

Hell played, trom your to room."

"There is sweet music here that softer falls."

I fan fetals from blown roses on the grass."

"Twen the green trees Partake the deep contentment, as they bend Forthe soft winds; the sun, from the blue sky, Looky in and shells a blessing on the scene."

"I wonder not that youth remains With you, wherever else she flies."

"Here all the tunnit of the market place.
Here all the glamour of the crowded street,
Where vain deception walks with haughty face,
Is lost aimit thy stillness,"

"A sweet perfume upon the breeze Is borne from ever whispring trees."

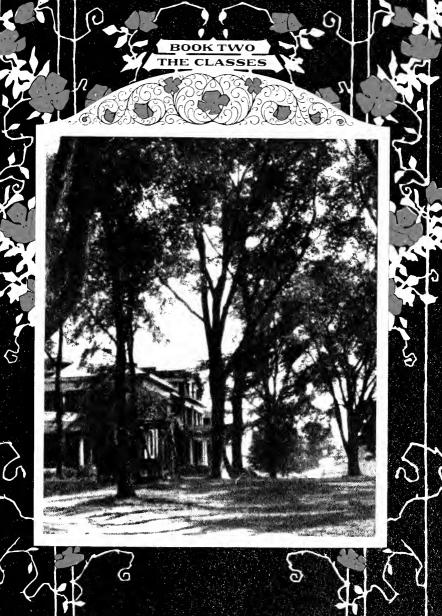

"Here shines, undimmed, one blissful day."

"There's a dance of leaves in that aspen hower,
There's a twitter of winds in that beachen tree,
There's a smile on the fruit and a smile on the flower.
And a laugh from the brook that runs to the sea."

"Dear pal, we re-ascend the steps which many youthful, happy feet have trod."

THE RESERVOIS ASSESSMENT OF THE PERSON OF TH

NELLIE PLITT DODSON, Graduate in .1rt WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. Emerson Literary Society, Home Economics Club (2, 3).

The never-faltering hand of destiny guided one hundred and twenty Freshmen up the long hill to the welcoming doors which Greensboro College flung wide to receive us. The same hand saw us safely wrapped in the arms of Morpheus for our first night under the roof our grand-mothers had loved. Sleep may bring about many changes; for in that one night many transformations were wrought. The fairies came and took away our childish fancies and in their places left realities and the making of real women.

September 8th was a glorious and eventful day, for the coming of dawn witnessed the reawakening of one hundred and twenty girls who were breathing, for the first time, the spirit of G. C., a spirit of love and loyalty for all the customs, traditions, and organizations of our Man Mater, though it was the first day spent within her ivy-covered walls. Since we were no longer the children of yesterday, hut real college women, we faced realities and new responsibilities. We were placed on our honor to play the fair and square game, and to do the right thing in all our dealings with our fellow-students and the faculty as well. In the beginning we were given the materials and placed on our own initiative to either make or break our college standard.

Our first few days of college life may be described as "one mad whirl." One minute we found ourselves before that august body known as the Classification Committee, and the next minute we were being carried to the Tea Garden by some old girl. The faculty gave a reception to the student body, and it was there that we first met and were overwhelmed with the dignity of our faculty, forming a long receiving line in the college parlor. The Y. W. C. A. and Students' Association parties we will never forget; they made us feel as if we really belonged to G. C., and at this particular time that was our hearts' desire,

The most exciting thing during the first few weeks was the "mad society rush," but soon the fateful Decision Night came when each Freshman had to choose her society, and become a loyal follower of the purple and gold in the Irving Literary Society, or a staunch champion of the green and gold of the Emerson Literary Society. After the decision, which meant so much to each girl, had heen made, we began to settle down to real work as "college students," as we liked to call ourselves, for, as was natural, we possessed the usual amount of Freshman presumption.

Field Day, which was a holiday for interclass athletics, was a very happy day for us, as we were winners in the basketball games and several track events. These victories proclaimed us a class full of pep, enthusiasm, and courage to attempt anything, as our opponents in the contests were the "most terrible sophs," and our dearly loved "Big Sisters," the Junior Class.

Work was never allowed to grow monotonous this first year of ours, and as for homesickness, that was something almost unheard of among our number. The girls were congenial, and we began to thrive in this democratic atmosphere. Everyhody seemed to be trying to make every-body else happy, and the Juniors were unusually successful on one particular night, when they entertained us and gave us each a "Big Sister" to help and encourage us during our first two years of college. On Halloween the Sophomores gave us a most original party, which proved to us that they were really on "The Bloody Sophs," but our friends.

Throughout the year we were given, as a class, little duties to perform, which, in the end, were really pleasures, for they gave us a part in things, and we did not feel left out as Freshmen sometimes do. On Thanksgiving we decorated the dining room so that it made a pretty setting for the girls when they came down to breakfast dressed in Puritan costumes. We gave an original stunt, as was the custom, for each class, and were very much elated over the fact that our originality in advertising and presenting a musical comedy was praised by the faculty and the students. So busy were we always that we scarcely heeded the passing of our first college year.

Our Sophomore year (ound many followers of the silver gray and royal purple ready to take up our college life where we had left off and, bearing alott our motto, "Qui non profecet, deficit," we were determined to make our scood year as pleasant and as profitable as the first.

The events followed one another so rapidly that it is difficult to enumerate them and give to each its place of importance. One daw we experienced the joys of seniordom, as our Senior sisters gave us their esteemed privileges, while they came down to the rank of Sophomores and visited the picture show in groups of four. Our "Big Sisters" gave us a picnic on one of the first days of fall, and we shall always remember the circle we formed around the fire after the camp supper.

We gave the Seniors a banquet at the O'Henry Hotel in the early spring. We attempted then to show them a part of our love and appreciation for all they had meant to us as a class and as individuals. Toward the latter part of the year we had our last pleasant meeting with the Seniors around the class tree one night when the clock struck twelve. The ceremony there, when "Big Sisters" gave us their class property, was very solemn in the stillness of the night, and seemed to impress each Sophomore with the responsibility we were about to shoulder as the "Big Sister" class, when those we had loved had gone. The daisy chain at commencement was our last token of love for the Class of '22.

Our junior year was a wonderful mixture of "Little Sisters," sandwiches, and ice cream. While we were so happy to have our "Little Sisters," and were trying to be idealistic in setting for them a sterling example, we were reminded that one's junior year is not filled with rose-colored ideals, but with the materialistic necessity of making money. We made money, as we were very successful financiers, and the junior-senior banquet at the O'Henry Hotel was quite as elaborate as became the dignity of such an event.

For the first time during our college course we were to gather in Junior Hall, and the associations we had there seemed to create a stronger class spirit. We won the loving cups which were given on Field Day for track events and highest score. We have held these cups during both our junior and senior years.

With awe and reverence do I speak of our senior year. Busiest and yet most delightful of the four, it is one which may not he recorded, so full has it heen of work and play, sorrow and happiness. It has meant the attainment of our goal and the realization of our ideals. Our associations together have formed lioks in our chain of friendship which may never be broken. We have been a united band, striving ever to reach the pinnacle of highest attainments in our search for knowledge, truth, and beauty, which we wish to carry as torches to light the dim paths of the future.

Mere words seem lifeless and unappreciative when we try to speak our love for our Alma Mater; we are simply forced to parror "To her all love and loyalty we owe," for her high standards have meant for us the unfolding of new life. Because of the inspiration we have received in our college home, we, fifty-eight Seniors, animated by hope, corrage, lotty ideals, and the realization of a purpose to accomplish, a mission to fulfill, faced fearlessly the dawn of a new day from Fate's open portals.

ELIZABETH SCARBOROUGH, Historian.

First Publication Diary, 1924-1934

By JULIA MARSHALL LITTLE

May 27, 1921. Well, this seems to be the end of my career at Greensboro College, I, with my other classmates, must face a new world, a world of stern realtites, a world in which we must strive to reach ideals which have been set before us. I wonder where we will all land? Now, of course, Pauline, Vivian, Maxine and several others seem to have their fate decided. But the rest of us—I wonder? Why, little book, I believe I'll tell you all about my classmates as the years pass, then I won't lose any of them if I keep you accurately. So long, diary, I'm terribly tired from commencement in all.

June 15. Little book, our first classmate is married—Mary Groome is Mrs. Russel Barnes

June 30. Well here comes the next one; Maxine; has become Mrs.—was married to-day—now she is Mrs. Cecil Cobb.

July 19. And Alma has gone to New York to study voice. I wonder, little book, where she will land? A prima donna, I'll het, August 20. My! little book, you are really getting to be a part of me. However, if all my '24 classmates don't stop getting married, I won't be able to buy ink to write you with. Do you know I got an invitation today to Polly Conley's wedding? Yes, of course, it is no shock to you at all—well, she is Mrs. Hokey now—that's all I know. Do you remember his other name, little book?

September 6. Leaving for my first school tomorrow. Do you know that Eleanor, Macie and Grace Wilson are going to teach with me? Guess that's our career! October 21. What do you suppose Mary Eliza is doing? Well, she is actively engaged as a Y. W. C. A. secretary.

October 22. Wedding hells. These girls are not one bit considerate. Why can't they wait till 1 have made a little money before they all get married? Jessie Thompson it is thin: Jennings, of course—$1.00 to the minus 1 am.

July 25, 1925. Do you think I have been neglecting you, little book? Well, I haven't. 'Twenty-four has been up to nothing—but now I have some news for you—Mary Brock is to be Miss Brock's assistant registrar at Greensboro College—and Sue Dixon—oh, ye days of woman suffrage!—is fire chief of no other city than Greensboro—and Sadie Hendely is to be Miss Walker's assistant next year.

August 10, 1925. Maude, Eunice and Eleanor are here, and they have brought, little book, several pieces of news for you. You know Eunice and Marion taught in Porto Rico last year, and Marion is going to marry a Porto Rican. Sh' sh' this is a whisper, lest she hear. Eunice, I believe, fell in love with her superintendent, a man from Kansas. Think she and Marion can't decide whether to have the event double or not. Next-Lill Hooper is still standing under trees looking up-what do you suppose she sees? A squirrel? Why, no-no other than Darius White, Jr. Speaking of Lillian, reminds us of Catherine Penn. Of course, we all remember the night she got the ring. She and Wilbur marry tomorrow, El brings the news that Elizabeth is about to marry Roger, as she always said she would.

August 15. Saw in the paper today an announcement of Annie Mariah's wedding-Stanton, it is-of course-. Listen to this, "B" wouldn't even tell us while she was here -but she has definitely decided (so her letter said today) to become a preacher's better half-Mrs. "Mac."

September 8. Saw in the paper today where Lillian Hall and Mary Jo Dickson have gone to New England Conservatory.

September 15. Our little Mississippi maid is now, little book, a Mississippi Mrs. -Announcement received today of Myra's wedding. She is now Mrs. Wilfred Dean, October 15. On the train yesterday I met Gladys Harrell. You remember she was the bosiness manager of the '24 Echo. We talked over "echo" of old times. She is now engaged in an advertising agency, the result of her G. C. experience.

November 10. Well, little book, how old I feel. The Class of '24 is now an aunt-Maxine has a Cecil and a Cecil, Jr.

December 24, 1925. Cards and other things received from most members of '24. Mabel Pitts is in California spending the holidays with Grace. Still up to her same old tricks, February 3. Had a nice, long letter from Estelle today. She went into the laboratory department of the board of health, She is now in a most responsible position and pulling down "de mon"-said she had seen Mahel Parker a few days before and she is planning to study in New York.

April 10. Just heard that Winnie is taking graduate English at Harvard.

April 15. Am anxious to go over to the reunion next month, little book. Had a letter today from Eleanor and she told me Laura is studying medicine. Guess she will be quite a help to Joe. Ruth Hadley is also in pursuit of an M.D.

May 2. Was so glad, little book, to hear from Ruth Cotton today. She is head of the French department in some big Western college-can't remember the name of it.

May 10. Saw an account of Annyce's wedding today-his name? I can't rememberanyway he is a dentist.

May 15. Letter from Louise urging all '24 members to attend reunion. She has been teaching music for two years.

May 27, 1926. Greensboro College! Back at the same old place. Most of us are here. Marion couldn't come from Porto Rico. And Emily is at Columbia University. She gets her M.A. this year. Agnes is athletic coach (in some school) up North and couldn't come. Verna isn't here, but we don't know where she is. I hope, little book, I may find out about some other members of '24,

May 28. A nice little surprise. We got a wire from Verna saying she was in Kentucky. She and Garnet were married yesterday. Now for a whole list of chronicles, Eula May seems to be engaged to no less than five at the present. Sallie, Nola, Mary Norman, Rachel, Ruby, Mary Long, Elizabeth Hutton, Helen Morton, Hazel Patrick, and Annie Groome are teaching. "Gene" is swimming teacher at Y. W. C. A. at Dorham. Louise Beal, Grace Johnson and Mildred Wilson are teaching piano.

Mary Niel is staying at home. You know medical courses are long! Martha is staying at home this year-at least Williamston is headquarters-I don't know how much she stays there. Hannah is a biology teacher now. Anna is just staying at home having a big time. The twins are teaching and Bailey is studying at New England Conservatory, Now, I believe I have located all '24 girls at some time during the last two years, Wonder what will happen before we come together again? Had our party last night and we leave G. C. today.

December 29, 1930. I saw in the paper today where Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Hampton and children spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Tilley in Bahama. You know Vivian was one of the first of our class to get married.

May 15, 1934. Four years since I have written in you, little book. I suppose I must admit that I, too, have become negligent about keeping up with my classmates. They told us we'd do it; but we didn't believe it, However, perhaps, now I can give you sev-

When we were only Freshmen here, To reach our far-off Senior year Was the sole height of our desire, And offered all we would require For happiness complete, supreme. At last it has come true, that dream.

And still we feel almost the same As we felt then, when first we came. Being Seniors is not what we thought, And all the tasks we have wrought Have not brought victory and rest-We must keep striving for the hest.

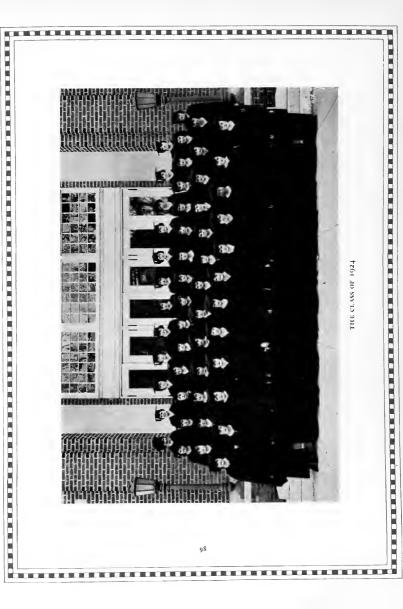

So after four years of trying together, Working and playing in all kinds of weather, We've learned that our learning is only begun, That school is not over till our life is done. Yet we believe we will play our part out there In a more poble way for having been here,

EMILY TUTTLE.

WILLARD SHARP

If we were all like Willard, this school would run on schedule time, for she's always prompt to classes and—even to meals.

NELL MOORE

Behold our hero! Nell makes our hearts skip a beat when she plays the part of Romeo.

SUSIF HOOPER

Susie is the mother of our class. We're not able to say how big a place she occupies in our hearts.

JOHNSIE CONLEY

Wherein doth her future lie, Marry Bobbie, Joe, Roy, or die?

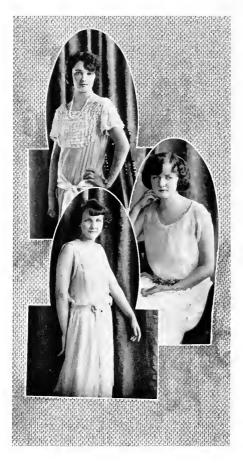

ELIZABETH HARRIS

Betsy is our science genius and our star athlete. Here's to Betsy!

JOSEPHINE JOHNSON

"Reuben, Reuben, we've been thinking, What a good pal Jo will make,"

Ерітн Совв

How we would all need a warmness of heart, like E. D., if we were planning to make our future home in Snow Hill.

THELMA YOUNG

Isn't it strange how such a girl as Thelma can put Miss Minerva in the shade when we need old maids for our stunts?

RUTH HOYLE

We understand that Ruth is planning to study art. We wish her success in harmonizing her favorite colors, Brown and Green.

ELOWISE DAVIS

She's no exception to the rule, "Still waters run deep."

ETHEL BURKHEAD

Age doesn't govern brains in this case, because, although she is the youngest in our family, she stands near the top of the ladder of knowledge.

EUNICE GOODWIN

"Pete" is our friend in need—nurse, doctor, comforter, grand opera singer, and imitator, when it comes to "Pilgrimages ah!"

JOSEPHINE McCracken

The jingle of Miss Hamililton's keys never phases Josephine, for we have found her an ideal housekeeper and envy her the talent.

EUNICE ADAMS

Red is not for blondes, Preacher is a blonde, Will someone explain why she likes Red?

COBBIE JEAN FOSTER

Bobbie Jean came to us this year. We are wondering which claim will be the stronger, ours or his?

LUCILLE JOHNSON

Speaking of blondes, Luce is a perfect one, who seems to find sunshine and happiness in everything, even on the bluest of days,

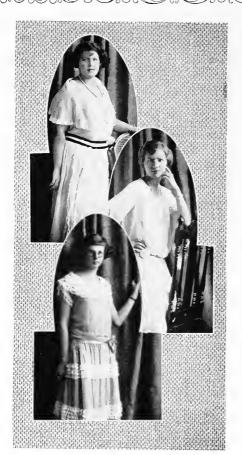

LOUISE BASNIGHT

Louise always brings to our mind powdered curls, hoop skirts, lace mits, and ruffled parasols.

MARY UMSTEAD

Mary is a credit to our class—sincere and honest in all things, worthy of any praise.

ADELAIDE DUNSTAN

We prescribe "Fatty" as a sure cure for the blues,

MARY WILKINS

Peace lost a real student and we feel we gained an all-round good Junior when Mary came to us,

GEORGIA RAY KINSLAND

Georgia hails from Asheville and is a fair example of a genuine, honestto-goodness worker, capable of doing great things,

HALLIE TROLLINGER

Josephine used good judgment when she selected Hallie for a roomie. Here's to Hallie, our home-talented Junior!

SARAH PHARR

Her eternal bigness of heart we all admire. Our family wouldn't be complete without her,

VIRGINIA LOWRANCE

Capable, dependable, true as steel. What more need we say?

"—and her name was Maude," We often wonder how a head so small could hold so much.

LUCILE FULP

Lucy never raves. Perhaps she has learned the old adage that "Silence is golden."

LOLITA ELLIS

Behold our mocking bird! Loli is well on her way to footlights, flowers, and success, for we find her soul in her song,

Myrtis Maynard

"To dig" is not Myrtis' lot, for the ease with which she grasps things would make one think that the gold is all on the surface.

MAUDE LEE TYSOR

If cakes and huns will win a heart, we know Maude Lee's fate.

BLANCHE BURRUS

What do you think of a girl who is called A+and deserves it, too?

KATHLEEN ERWIN

Kathleen is an adopted member of our class, but she's genuine.

ELVA FAISON

No matter how, when, or where you meet, Elva, she always greets you with a smile.

OLLIE FENTRESS

"If music be the food of love," Ollie will never starve.

HOPE HARDISON

Charm, loveliness, grace, attractiveness — all these go to make up Hope.

DIXIE REAVES

We're expecting Dixie to major in Bihle, for she is now memorizing the Epistles of Paul.

MARY LOU WINSTEAD

Far he it from us to say that auburn-haired girls are hard to please, for Mary Lou is an exception to the rule.

EMMA RUSSELL

Although Emma isn't on the campus, she's one of our faithful standbys, especially when we need fairies and cupids in our stunts.

MILDRED DARDEN

Will Kenly claim its own as a leader of society or will Paris claim her talent as a designer of fashions?

MILDRED SINGER

Mildred is a live, enthusiastic, number one student. She is an indispensable member of our class.

Nellie Bird Woods

Nellie Bird is our president. Nuff sed.

KATHERINE FLOYD

It isn't strange to us why Kat has always liked blue. She doesn't mind wearing blue, nor being blue for Blue.

FRANCES HENNINGER

Frankie gives "dramatic interpretations to music." We don't know what that means to others, but to us—she's our Paylowa.

Lois Allred

What can two diamonds on the fatal finger mean? We leave it for the future to decide.

JONGIE CASHWELL

A sweeter disposition is seldom found, Who could help hut love her?

ZELDA BARNES

Don't misunderstand us when we say that old "Z" would put Maggie to shame when it comes to making psyches and wielding a rolling pin.

Basketball

FIELD DAY, MAY 5, 1923

May 5, 1923, the colors of all the classes were flying in the morning breeze. At 9 o'clock began the hard-fought struggle between the Junior and Freshman basketball teams for the inter-class basketball championship. The game was of unusual excitement and good fighting was on both sides. The final score was 23 to 25, the Juniors winning.

Basketball

ON THE TRACK

FIELD DAY, MAY 5, 1923

First place in running broad jump was won by Miss Elizabeth Harris of the Sophomore Class; 75-yard dash was won by Miss Mary Brock, of the Junior Class; high jump went to Miss Augusta Sample, of the Freshman Class; hop, skip, and jump went to Miss Prentiss Odom, of the Freshman Class; walking for speed went to Miss Mary Brock, of the Junior Class; vaulting went to Miss Clarabel Morris, of the Senior Class; walking for grace and ease was won by Miss Dixie Curtis, of the Senior Class; and running for grace and ease went to Miss Frances Henninger, of the Sophomore Class.

Another event of the day was the relay race, won by the Junior Class.

ON THE TRACK

FIELD DAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1923

The track events were unusually interesting. Martha Cameron, jumping 12 feet 3½ inches, won first place in running broad jump. Augusta Sample, Sophomore, jumped 3 feet 7 inches, and won first place in high jump. Walking for speed, first place was won by Agnes Edwards, Senior. The 75-yard dash was won by Mary Brock, Senior. Eunice Goodwin, Junior, won first place vaulting. First place shot put and basketball throw were won by Annie Mariah Thompson, Senior. The relay race was won by the Seniors. The final score of the day was: Seniors, 56 points; Juniors, 25 points; Sophomores, 28 points; Freshmen, 42 points.

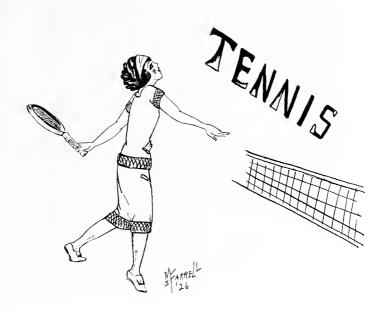

This gave the Senior Class high point score cup and track cup. The Class of '24 has held the track cup since their Sophomore year, being the only Senior Class on record to win this cup.

Greensboro College, Y. W. C. A., 1923-24

T is the purpose of the Young Woman's Christian Association to unite the women of the institution in loyalty to Jesus Christ, to lead them to accept Him as their personal Savior, to build them up in the knowledge of Christ, especially through Bible study and Christian service, that their character and conduct may be consonant with their belief. It shall further seek to enlist their devotion to the Christian church and to the religious work of the institution.

When the present administration of the Young Woman's Christian Association assumed its duties and responsibilities in April, 1923, we received a valuable heritage from the earnest Christian endeavors of our predecessors. It is our duty to guard well this heritage, and it is our ideal to avail ourselves of every opportunity for strengthening and upbuilding the association.

One way in which we have striven to carry out our purpose is through Christian service. During the Thank-giving and Christmas seasons we gave gifts and fruit to the inmates of the Masonic Home, Children's Home and St. Leo's Hospital. Another source of real joy for us was the Christmas tree given for the poor children of the city.

We have been fortunate in securing speakers who have benefited the students mentally and spiritually. Rev. C. G. Hounshell, D.D., of the Methodist Church Board, Nashville, Tenn, delivered the anniversary sermon of the Young Woman's Christian Association last commencement. Mr. Conrad Hoffman, executive secretary of European Student Relief; Bishop Paul Jones, a secretary in the Fellowship of Reconciliation; Miss Madge Sills, a former graduate-of Greenshoro College, now a National Y. W. C. A. secretary, visited us during the year, and each succeeded in hroadening the views of the student body in world thought and Christian responsibilities. Rev. T. A. Smoot, D.D., of Danville, Va., conducted a series of evangelistic services in our college, which greatly deepened the spiritual lives of the students and led many to determine their life work.

The Young Woman's Christian Association has great possibilities for developing Christian citizenship, for presenting a world point of view, and for preparing all to live the "life abundant." It is our great desire to give to the world women whose deep religious convictions, broad sympathies, knowledge and ability shall enable them to spread the light of powerful Christian influence in the struggle for the hetterment of mankind.

Greensboro College Students' Association, 1923-24

Since the establishment of stodent government we have endeavored to make every Greenshoro College girl feel an individual responsibility for her college, her class, her organizations, and her schoolmates. The year 1923-24 has meant another year of progress toward the realization of our ideals. We have attempted to make the term "Student Government" have more than a mere disciplinary value in that we have stressed self-government which is a foundation for character huilding. New problems, which we have tried to settle wisely and sanely from the viewpoint of the council, the faculty, and the entire student body, have arisen.

We have striven to keep in sympathetic touch and co-operation with the great welfare movement of the day. We have seen tangible results of this ideal by the liberality with which the students responded to the Student Friendship Fund which perpetuates international friendship. The student body was very enthusiastic over the world-wide student conference held at Indianapolis in January. We gave material interest by sending three students and one faculty member as delegates to the conference.

All our ideals have not yet been realized. We have doubtless made mistakes, and for these we are sorry. We leave our mistakes and our attainments as a heritage to those who follow, and we look to the future for a broader and more complete realization of our aspirations.

Senior Stunt

NUSUAL both in plot and action was the original play, "Dominoes," presented by the Senior Class, Saturday evening, November 10. The story was one of mystery, centered around the robbery of a valuable pearl necklace. How the hero was suspected, imprisoned, tried, and finally proven innocent, made a thoroughly interesting stunt. The love affair between Tom O'Brian (Mary Norman Hargrave) and Betty Carr (Maxine Gardener), and the beautiful friendship of O'Brian and Rutledge (Ruth Hadley), gave a very human touch to the plot.

Michael O'Brian (Eula Mae Edgerton), Tom's uncle, furnished the humor of the play.

The climax came in the court scene, where Tom was proven innocent by the confession of the maid (Marion Dunn), who said that the butler (Verna Moores) was the thiet.

Junior Stunt

On December 1, 1023, the Junior Class presented an original farce, entitled "The Son-Kist Maid." As the curtain rose on the first act, voices behind the scenes were heard singing "Just a Kiss in the Dark." The scene was laid in the living room of the heroine's home on Christmas Eve night. The plot hinged upon a kiss which was stolen by John Wintergreen, hero (Lois Stamey), from Desire Moore, heroine (Josephine Johnson). Andy Giunp, Maggie and Jiggs, and Vietrola Peruna Lee were used as witnesses. The final sentence was pronounced by Santa Claus—that the hero should return the stolen kiss. Throughout the play various charness were introduced: Manny Chorus, Rolling Pin Chorus, Dan Cupid Chorus, and the Old-Fashioned Girls' Chorus. The last one represented Honeymoon Kisses, who coquettishly showered the andience with candy kisses as the curtain tell.

Sophomore Stunt

The originality and ability of the Sophomore Class were shown to good advantage Saturday, February 16, when they presented "The Eternal Triangle."

Maude Merriman played the leading role as Betty June Lancing. She made a very beautiful bride in the first act, and was supported by Augusta Sample, who played the part of the groom. The bride's mother was played by Corrine Dixon. Hattie Dill and Ruth Boyles, as maid of honor and best man, wove another thread of romance through the play.

Much mirth was called forth in the second act by the attempts of the bride to prepare her first dinner. Alice White played the part of the cook and Sue Frank White, as the ice man, brought forth much applause.

The part of Mrs. Carmichael was taken by Maxine Johnson. She proved to be the third side of the triangle, and caused the temporary separation of the newly-married couple. Six clever choruses were cleverly worked in during the play.

Buena Vista: "Well, good-bye, I have got to go and write them at home and prepare them for it."

Maude Leigh (to new girl): "Do you know Miss Perry, the new history teacher?"

New Girl: "O, yes, I know her. She sits at my table."

Mary McAuley: "Come go to the supply room with me,"

Esther Hatch: "Do we have to go every day? I just went vesterday."

Wilma Baird (rushing over to get her proofs of pictures): "Well, I do want to see my pictures, but I have lost my recipe, and I can't find it anywhere."

Freshman (after gazing at the statue of the Winged Victory for a long time): "Well, it sure has had rough treatment to have the head off of it already."

New Girl (to Elizabeth Scarborough, student president): "Miss Scarborough, I room in one of the cottages, but will it be all right for me to get a drink of water in Fitzgerald?" Lolita Ellis (to Elizabeth Campbell): "Why don't you ever go to morning watch, Elizabeth?"

Elizabeth: "I didn't know anybody was supposed to g) except the Student Council."

CALL FOR MRS. ALLEY, PLEASE!

One of our verdant, green, new girls wishes to know why her knock at the Library door is never answered. Faking into consideration the fact that she goes during Library hours, this seems to us a breach of eliquette.

WANTED

To know why they continue to put slips in my mail with my name on them. Any information concerning same will be greatly appreciated.—(Signed) Gladys Watson.

Eula May Edgerton: "Sne Frank, why do you all call that girl from Fairmont 'My Gentle Aster'?"

Sue Frank (after enjoying a good laugh): "Why, Eula May, her name is Magenta Lassiter."

Rosinel Happerfield. "Do we have to get permission to go home Christmas?"

Sadic Hendley: "Yes, we do, and form our groups, too," (Miss Rickett's inevitable reply.)

Mabel Parker (studying Bible 11): "Mildred, do you know the journeys of Paul?"

Mildred Wilson: "Goodness, no. He must have had a pass."

Hazel Patrick, in a grand rush to History IV.

Maxine Gardner: "Why are you in such a hurry?"

Hazel: "I don't know my lesson, and I have to hurry to get a seat behind Mande Leigh so Miss Clarke can't see me."

Katherine Smith: "You know they say potatoes will make you strong."

Julia Marshall Little: "Well, I ought to be a strong woman, then."

Katherine Smith: "Well, if it were true, I would be as strong as Solomon (Sampson)."

Catherine Penn: "Lillan, I have made up my mind to stay at home this afternoon,"

Lillian Hooper: "Oh, now, Catherine, I have made up my face to go out."

Mr. Nicholson (in education class); "Are there any more questions?"

Ruth Hadley: "Yes, sir. What time is it?"

Bobbed Hair - Yot when y sup Bobbed Hair - 1924

Impressions

Lolita Ellis-A ruffled parasol and a lacy fan.

Myra Gulley—A red, red rose, full blown.
Frances Brown—Pierrette on Broadway.

Eunice Goodwin-An autumn breeze playing among scarlet leaves.

Grace Johnson-Twilight; a grand piano; Chopin,

Winnie Witherspion—A poke bonnet, with torget-me-nots peeping over an old-tashioned carry-all,

Eunice Perry-Moonlight on still waters,

Hope Hardison—A bungalow and a canary ird.

Lillian Hooper-Monte Carlo; a ball masone.

Eula Mae Edgerton-A circus, with peanuts and popcorn.

Laura Roberts-A yellow rose on a piece of velvet.

A Parable

There was, in a country not so far distant, a woman, who cometh around on certain days of the week to inspect their habitations. The school wherein she abideth was a Christian institution of learning, but this woman used a most un-Christian principle as regards the members of the college household. For she did not follow the Golden Rule, which saveth, "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you." She inspected the rooms when they were not ready for inspection. There hangeth from her belt a large bunch of keys, which jingleth when she walks and throweth great consternation into the hearts of the hearers thereof, so that they jumpeth into the closets, and throweth their things about in a most disturbing manner. And now I say unto thee, if thou leavest a box of candy on the dresser where she seeth it when she entereth, she will partake thereof, and pass on, unmolested and unmolesting.

Sayings of the Sages

"Girls, please get your groups and bring the list to my office immediately after lunch."

"Latin II will not meet today."

"Will all the young ladies who have not yet handed in their schedules for gamnasium, please put them in the unpainted box just inside the hall of west wing main building this afternoon?"

"Girls, you must not get the chairs out of order in this room,"

"Will all the young ladies look among their books and see if, through any mistake, you have taken a volume of Shakespeare out of the library?"

"There is a good picture on at the National this atternoon, and I should be very glad it my classes in English could arrange to see it." "Will all the young ladies who signed for history books, please get them today?"

"Public school music will not meet today."

"There will be a students' recital given in the Odell Memorial building this evening at 8 o'clock. Everyone is invited to be present."

"This room looks very bad, girls, and I shall expect it to be put in order at once."

"Young ladies, will you please out leave your books in the lobby at any time?"

"A brief Senior Class meeting immediately after lunch."

WHEN THEY COME SEPTEMBER

WHEN THEY LEAVE

"There will be a very short but a very important meeting of the Students' Association after dinner in the chapel. Every student must be present."

"Young ladies, will you please give us your hearty co-operation in this very vital matter?"

"Take a deep breath, hold it, leave it out. Two dollars, please."

"Young ladies, will you please try to get to class on time after this?"

THE O. HENRY HOTEL

A Real Contribution to the pleasure of the life at G. C., in Greensboro, is the O. Henry Hotel. Here occurred many a festivity, dear to the memory and close to the heart of the G. C. girl.

Perhaps it has been a Sunday night dinner, a bridge, a tea, or a few happy hours with the home-folks when they came to visit.

No matter what the occasion, the O. Henry, with its refined hospitality, its perfect appointments and service, its delightful cuisine, has always played and will always play the genial host.

eral bits of information. Laura married Joe. Eleanor, Martha, Winnie, Hannah, Agnes, Gene, Anna, and Mary Norman are married—Winnie and Bill.

Bailey Watson is now touring the country. She has become a famous pianist and '24 is justly proud of her. The twins had a double wedding several years ago.

May 27, 1934. Some of us are here at G. C. It was impossible for many of us to come. Responsibilities and duties seem to keep us from rather than bring us to G. C.

Everything seems strange around here. We teel very thankful when we see a familiar face.

May 30. Well, little book, I am on my way home. You must admit that I have located all my classmates and given you a record of them to keep forever. Be good to them, little hook, and if any of them wish to advance further, don't try to keep them back, but let them go up and up, and I'll be glad to record it in your snowy pages. So long, little book, here I am at home.
